

Mrs. Hall Unmoved as 'Pig Woman' Testifies From 'Deathbed'

RETURNS TO HOSPITAL. Following four-hour ordeal in Somerville Court House, Mrs. Jane Gibson, state's star witness, was rushed back to Jersey City Hospital, where physicians are making what is believed a vain attempt to save her life. Photo shows star witness being carried from court.

DYING WOMAN "ON STAND." Wan, withered and shrunken, a ghost of her once-robust self, Jane Gibson, on cot in Somerville courtroom, swore she saw Mrs. Hall, her brothers and cousin near scene of Hall-Mills murders. Photo shows (1) nurse, (2) Mrs. Gibson, (3) Dr. Snyder, (4) Willie Stevens, (5) Mrs. Hall, (6) Henry Stevens. (Photo Graphic.)

AFTER MOST TRYING DAY since start of trial, Mrs. Hall (shown entering jail) visited cousin, Henry Carpender, in Somerville cell, to recount court happenings. (Photo Graphic.)

"PIG WOMAN'S" ARRIVAL at Somerville Court caused great excitement among curiosity seekers, who crowded about ambulance. With face heavily veiled, she was carried on stretcher into courtroom. (Graphic.)
